

Waiver and Release of Liability

I, the undersigned, realize that as part of the testing of precious metals some damage may occur, including but not limited to: discoloration from testing acid, scratches from the cleaning process, marks from the testing unit, etc.

I realize that Au Alloys may test any and all pieces of metal that I wish to sell, or, at their discretion, may accept as fact the official markings that appear on precious metals identifying their quality (e.g. 14k signifies 14 karat gold).

I testify that the metals I submit for testing and purchase are as I have stated, to the best of my knowledge. While I can not be certain about the quality or content of each piece, I will not knowingly attempt to deceive Au Alloys.

Any precious stones or extraneous parts that are included in my pieces may be removed by Au Alloys at their discretion and returned to me.

I, the undersigned, release Au Alloys and its employees from any damage or loss that may occur as part of the testing process.

If, after having my metals tested and receiving an offer from Au Alloys to purchase them, I decide not to sell my metals, that is my right. I may choose to sell all, some or none of the tested items.

I realize that the prices that I am quoted are valid at the time of offer only, as the value of metals changes frequently. I may not receive the same quote at another time.

I attest that the metals that I submit for testing and purchase are mine to sell, or that I have been given the legal authority to sell them on the behalf of another. These metals, to the best of my knowledge, are not stolen or otherwise obtained illegally.
